Investment products and diversification

A retail client (or class of retail client) may intend to hold a product as part of a diversified portfolio (for example, with an intended product use of minor allocation). In such circumstances, the product should be assessed against the retail client's attributes for the relevant portion of the portfolio, rather than the retail client's portfolio as a whole. For example, a retail client may seek to construct a balanced or moderate diversified portfolio with a minor allocation to growth assets. In this case, a product with a High risk/return profile may be consistent with the retail client's objectives for that minor allocation notwithstanding that the risk/return profile of the retail client as a whole is Medium. In making this assessment, distributors should consider all features of a product (including its key attributes). The key attributes of this product that make it likely to be consistent with the target market described above include:
